NATIONAL HERITAGE COUNCIL (NHC)

TENDER REF: NHC/29/2009

LIBERATION HERITAGE ROUTE & UNSUNG HEROES AND HEROINES

The National Heritage Council seeks to appoint a service provider to research and document experiences of South African ordinary people, historic events and places which have liberation heritage significance. The service provider should produce a publication of the research and a broadcast quality documentary (audio visual). The service provider should have a team of researchers that can conceptualize and implement a historical research project covering data collection and analysis, documentation and publication. An experienced film production team should be part of the project team. The research project will include the identification and engagement of communities, individuals that have made significant contribution in shaping our society or nation and they remain unrecognised for their contribution. The identified people or communities should be closely associated with the identified events and places of significance in telling the South African struggle of liberation. The recorded memories are aimed at preserving the history of the South African liberation struggle and to utilize this as a catalyst to stimulate socio-economic development and tourism. This will be done through researching, identification and packaging of a network of sites across the country. Tertiary and Research Institutions are encouraged to bid.

Closing date: 9 September 2009 at 11h00.

Collection of tender documents:

Cost: R100—direct deposits or electronic funds transfers are preferred. Deposit slips or proof of payment must be submitted when collecting documents. No cheques will be accepted.
