Changes to indicators and targets published in the 2011 ENE

The number of occupational health and safety inspections and mine audits has been revised. The new projected figure is based on the previous five years' actual number of inspections and audits performed, and is more realistic in view of the capacity challenges facing regional offices.

The department has expressed the view that singling out women, when they are also counted as historically disadvantaged South Africans, could lead to double counting. Therefore, the indicator for the number of licensed women led companies is now included and counted as part of the indicator for the number of mining rights granted to historically disadvantaged South Africans. The changed estimate for 2011/12 from 30 to 27 is aligned with the department's approved strategic plan.

The initial target for the number of industry workshops on compliance issues was based on 1 workshop per region and 1 at head office. The mining industry generally is non-compliant and the need to conduct more workshops in the industry has been noted; 3 per region will now be required in 9 regions.

The number of inspections in relation to the Mining Charter and environmental management plans is determined by what is due for inspection as well as available capacity. Changes to the estimates for the two inspections are in line with prioritisation and number of staff available to conduct the inspections. The number of planned promotional activities has been revised downwards as a result of the reprioritisation of projects. The target for the number of policies reviewed has been decreased because the focus will now be on amendments to the Mineral and Petroleum Resource Development Act (2002) and the Mine Health and Safety Act (1996), as these need to be prioritised in the current financial year.

The target for the number of derelict and ownerless mine sites to be rehabilitated has been increased because it is a priority for the department.

Mid-year progress

The number of mining rights granted to historically disadvantaged South Africans is higher than expected due to the large number of applications received in the first six months of the financial year. The targets for the number of Mining Charter and environmental management plan inspections are on schedule for the first six months of the year.

None of the planned promotional activities has begun due to the reprioritisation of projects and the high staff turnover rate in the department. Just over half the targeted number of SMMEs have been supported through monitoring and evaluation, site visits to the projects, technical support, organised training and strategic assistance.

Main departmental revenue trends for the first half of 2011/12

Departmental revenue collection in the first six months of 2011/12 was R28.851 million, or 62.1 per cent of the adjusted revenue estimate of R46.424 million for the year as a whole. In comparison, mid-year revenue collection in 2010/11 was R44.565 million, or 45 per cent of the 2010/11 adjusted estimate. Departmental revenue collection in the first six months of 2011/12 decreased by R15.714 million or 35.3 per cent, compared to revenue in the first six months of 2010/11.

The main revenue decrease compared to 2010/11 is due to the implementation of the Mineral and Petroleum Resources Royalty Act (2008), resulting in royalty collections being shifted from the department to the South African Revenue Service.
