

Acknowledgements

This second Development Cooperation Report for South Africa (DCR II 1994-1999) owes its existence to the efforts of a number of individuals, and the support of many organisations: consultants, researchers and their support staff; officers from government departments and donor agencies who shared time, information and insights freely; sponsors who generously funded discrete elements and stages of this study and thus enabled the whole to emerge. Without them the DCR II project would not have been possible.
