Mid-year progress

The Office of the Chief Justice expects to meet its performance targets by the end of 2015/16. This is largely due to the effective implementation of the norms and standards for the performance of judicial officers, which improves efficiency in the court system.

In the first six months of 2015/16, the department finalised 77 per cent of the cases at the Constitutional Court against an annual target of 80 per cent. Performance on the cases finalised at the Supreme Court of Appeal exceeded the annual target of 80 per cent, with 83 per cent of cases finalised. The actual performance for criminal cases finalised with verdicts in high courts is less than the annual target of 62 per cent mainly because some of the more complex cases have taken longer than anticipated to be finalised. The performance of the specialised courts slightly fell below annual targets, with 48 per cent of the cases finalised against the annual target of 52 per cent. The number of criminal cases on the backlog roll in the high courts is lower than the projected annual target of 206.
