

FREE STATE PROVINCE

2016 PEOPLE'S GUIDE TO BUDGET

MEC EC ROCKMAN

MESSAGE TO ALL THE FREE STATERS

The projected lower than expected economic growth, the high levels of unemployment and poverty as well as the global economic challenges requires innovative budget approach that yields tangible outcomes for the citizenry of the country. The 2016 MTEF Budget sets out to strengthen the path to fiscal consolidation and demonstrates government's commitment to a prudent and sustainable fiscal policy trajectory which seeks to manage government debt, reduce budget deficit and protect spending on core social services.

Thus, given the limited resources and the state of the economy the emphasis over the MTEF will be on efficiency gains and continuous evaluation of how services are rendered and how our institutions are transformed and posed to be more responsive to the needs of our people. It is thus critical for all to apprehend that behind these budget figures presented here there are people with real needs and socio economic challenges; hence our institutions must utilize the limited funds to respond to these needs and challenges.

The continuation of the fiscal consolidation stance, though supported by the province, presented fiscus challenges for the province. The province's contribution to the total Government cut of R32.880 billion over the 2016 MTEF is R832.079 million; this amount is over and above the initial reduction of R410.422 million which emanates from equitable share data updates. Therefore the combine budget cuts over the 2016 MTEF amounts to R1.243 billion. The budget cuts, though strenuous to the Province fiscal framework, presents us with an opportunity to continue to practice fiscal discipline and lock our concerted focus on key priorities that are designed to yield better economic growth prospects, increase employment opportunities as well as bettering the living conditions of our citizenry. Thus, the province will continue to be firm and ensure that the growth of spending on non-core items is restricted and channel much needed resources towards core government programmes and priorities with a view to promote value for money and efficient spending practices.

Accordingly, the budget of R30.840 billion for 2016/17 will continue to fund key social priorities such as education, health and other social services. Investment on infrastructure projects such as roads, agro-processing and development of integrated human settlements throughout the MTEF period with the view to encourage and promote economic growth and create much needed job opportunities will be continued. The province will thus continue to use the available fiscus space to fight back the challenges of poverty, inequality and unemployment and promote good governance.

Lastly, it is important to reiterate that in order to attain our primary objectives set out in the budget, there is a need for collaboration between government, business and civil society to work closely with the view to promote economic growth and creation of job opportunities in our province.

ECONOMIC OVERVIEW OF THE PROVINCE

The Free State is rich in agriculture and minerals. The development of these two primary industries profoundly shaped the provincial economic landscape and thus consequently its spatial development. However, in recent years the Free State economy has moved steadily from dependence on primary sectors, such as mining and agriculture, to the services sectors. This diversification is excellent for the long-term economic health of the province. In the meantime, all sectors are playing a dynamic and important role in the economy, and offering investors outstanding opportunities at the same time.

FREE STATE ECONOMIC STRUCTURE

Although the Free State Province is well known for its primary sector produce (mineral and agricultural goods), the tertiary industries dominate the province's economic output. Table 1 below illustrates the composition of Free State economy for the period 2005 to 2014.

The transformation of the provincial economy continues to take shape as the share of the tertiary industries increased from 64.5 percent in 2005 to 65.3 percent in 2014. The tertiary industries constitutes nearly two-thirds of the provincial economy, illustrating the transformation of the provincial economy from historically being a resources based economy, depended on mining and agriculture, to a modern services-driven economy. The share of the primary industries has, however, increased during the review period, from 15.5 percent in 2005 to 17.6 percent in 2014. The secondary industries' share has decreased by 3 percentage points; from 20.1 percent in 2005 to 17.1 percent in 2014.

The largest sectors in the Free State economy in 2014 were the community services (25.3 percent), finance (15.3 percent) and wholesale and retail trade (14.5 percent), while the smallest industries were construction (2.7 percent), electricity, gas and water (3.6 percent) and agriculture (4.9 percent) respectively.

FREE STATE ECONOMIC PERFORMANCE

Figure 1 below illustrates the economic performance of both the Free State and South Africa, measured by real GDP, between 2005 and 2014. Over the review period, the Free State economy grew by 2.2 percent on average compared to the national average of 3.0 percent. Post the economic recession of 2009, the provincial economy grew by 2.1 percent on average, whilst the national economy grew by 2.4 percent. The Free State economy was shielded from the direct effects of the 2012 and 2014 platinum strikes, and as a result performed relatively better compared to the national economy in those years. The Free State economy continues to grow sluggishly below the national average growth rate and more significantly below the 7 percent envisaged in the Free State Growth and Development Strategy Vision 2030.

Source: IHS Global Insight, Regional eXplorer, 2015

The economy of the Free State is estimated to have grown by 0.5 percent in 2015, in comparison to a 1.2 percent growth of South Africa in the same year. The year 2015 was characterized by a slower global economic growth, tightening monetary policy by the USA and other countries such as South Africa, decreased appetite for emerging markets' risky assets, weaker exchange rate for emerging markets, and drought.

In anticipation of minimum hikes of 8 percent on electricity prices granted to ESKOM by NERSA, a weaker R/$ exchange rate in 2016, lower commodity prices, increased inflation risks, higher interest rates and deteriorating conditions in the mining industry, the South African economic growth rate is expected to slightly decline to 1.1 percent in 2016, whilst economic growth rate projection for the province will rise slightly to 0.6 percent in 2016. Although continued lower prices will provide relief to consumers, a weaker exchange rate, increases in interest rate and taxes will undermine economic growth for South Africa and Free State in 2016.

FREE STATE LABOUR MARKET

The South African and Free State government are continuously working towards the aim of addressing the triple challenge of unemployment, poverty and inequality. Unemployment in particular is not a unique challenge to country.

According to Statistics South Africa, the Free State labour force increased by 37 000 (or 3.3 percent) between Q4:2014 and Q4:2015. During the same period, the number of employed people increased by 53 000 (or 6.9 percent), while the number of the unemployed decreased by 16 000 (or 4.3 percent). The changes in employment and unemployment numbers has led to a decline in the unemployment rate from 32.2 percent in Q4:2014 to 29.8 percent in Q4:2015; representing a fall of 2.4 percentage points. However, in spite of the drop, the Free State still has the highest unemployment rate in the country.

The number of discouraged work-seekers, year on year, declined by 7.7 percent, which is indicative of the positive outlook job-seekers have in the Free State.

2016/17 FREE STATE PROVINCIAL BUDGET

WHAT IS A BUDGET?

The term “budget” refers to a plan that indicates how limited public funds will be utilized by government to meet people’s needs according to commitments made. It is also regarded as a financial tool used by government to predict future revenues to be raised and expenditure to be incurred in a particular financial year. It is important to note that the needs are always unlimited while the budget is limited thus expenditure must be inline with each department’s core functions.

WHERE DOES THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT GET ITS MONEY FROM?

The Free State Government finances its provincial expenditure through the following sources:

- National Transfers: The Transfers from the National Revenue Fund consists of revenue collected by the South African Revenue Services (SARS) namely; income tax, VAT, customs and excise duties. This type of revenue is allocated to various provinces in a form of Equitable Share and Conditional Grants.
- Provincial Own Revenue: This type of revenue is generated provincially in terms of the Constitution of South Africa. Examples of receipts that are collected provincially are patient fees; motor vehicle licenses fees, gambling and liquor license fees, etc.

The total provincial receipts for the 2016/17 financial year amount to R30.840 billion. The split of this amount is as follows:

Table 3: Provincial sources of revenue

Source of Funding	R'000	2016 Provincial Receipts	% Share
National Revenue Fund (NRF)		29 810 631	96.7
Equitable Share		22 994 762	74.6
Conditional Grants		6 815 869	22.1
Provincial Receipts		1 029 711	3.3
Provincial Own Revenue		1 029 711
Total Receipts		30 840 342	100

Figure 2 below illustrates the provincial fiscus for the 2016/17 financial year in terms of sources of revenue.

Equitable Share:

Nationally raised revenue is allocated to provinces based on the needs of each province. This is done through Provincial Equitable Share Formula. The formula takes into account the following components in each province:

Education – average size of the school age population and school enrollment data.

Health – based on the Risk Equalisation Fund and output data from public hospitals.

Basic – based on the province's share of national population.

Poverty – based on the level of poverty in the province.

Economic Activity – based on the Regional Gross Domestic Product data.

Institutional – distributed equally across all nine provinces.

Conditional Grants:

The funds allocated to the province from the national government's budget with certain conditions attached per department.

Provincial Own Revenue:

The sources of revenue collected by the province for example, patient fees, motor vehicle licenses, gambling and liquor licenses.

2016 MTEF ALLOCATIONS AND AREAS OF FUNDING

The 2016 MTEF Budget is mainly guided by the following:

- The province will continue funding key social priorities such as education, health and other social services.
- Investment on infrastructure projects such as roads, agro-processing and development of integrated human settlements throughout the MTEF period with the view to encourage and promote economic growth and create much needed job opportunities.
- The province will continue to use the available fiscus space to fight back the challenges of poverty, inequality and unemployment.
- The province will prioritise funding towards frontline services whilst ensuring that there is no overall growth on non-core items.
- Continue to practice fiscal discipline and reduce spending towards thrills without compromising service delivery,
- National Development Plan (NDP) as key guiding planning framework.
- The 2014-2019 Medium Term Strategic Framework (MTSF) priorities.
- The Provincial Growth and Development Plan.
- Alignment of departmental plans and programmes to the 14 identified outcomes.
- The priorities approved by the Executive Council.
