ECONOMIC INDICATORS

- The persistent global supply chain bottlenecks and tighter monetary policy implemented to contain inflation weighed down global growth in 2023.
- The global outlook remains uncertain owing to numerous downside risks, such as low global trade growth as well as geopolitical conflicts.
- Domestically, growth was disrupted mainly by structural challenges such as electricity load-shedding alongside deteriorating ports and rail infrastructure.
- The economic prospects are also negatively affected by the disastrous flooding that has become frequent in some parts of the country, thereby causing damage to economic and social infrastructure.
- On a positive note, both SA and provincial economies are projected to pick up marginally in 2024 and 2025, supported by the expected improvement in energy supply.

DEVELOPMENT INDICATORS

- Approximately 31.9% of the South African population (19.8 million) still lived below the food poverty line in 2022.
- KZN reported about 40.5% of people living below the food poverty line during the same period. The Province had the highest number of social grant beneficiaries at about 4.17 million as at the first quarter of 2023, which translates to 22% of national total grant recipients (18.97 million).
- SA (0.65) and KZN (0.62) continue to maintain the middle level of Human Development Index (HDI). Despite various government programs aimed at addressing past injustices, the challenge of income inequality remains high, as the Gini-coefficient is estimated at 0.61 for both SA and KZN.
- Encouragingly, the functional literacy rate for people aged 15 years and above who have completed grade seven was reported at 89.8% and 88.1% in SA and KZN in 2022, compared to 82.4% and 79.8% in 2012, respectively.
