TERMS OF REFERENCE (TOR)

FURTHER DEVELOPMENT OF THE DEBT MODELLING AND FORECASTING CAPABILITIES OF THE NATIONAL TREASURY

1. BACKGROUND

The National Treasury, through its Asset and Liability Management Division, is responsible for financing the national government's gross borrowing requirement, which consists of the budget balance and maturing debt. The gross borrowing requirement is financed through domestic short- and long-term debt, foreign currency debt and the prudent management of daily surplus cash balances.

The objective of government's borrowing strategy is to finance government's commitments at the lowest possible cost within acceptable risk limits considering government's broader fiscal policy stance. National Treasury is also responsible for optimising its debt portfolio so that it does not add to funding pressures.

2. OBJECTIVE AND SCOPE OF WORK OF THE RFQ

The National Treasury currently utilises an in-house developed debt forecasting model to forecast government debt and debt- service costs. As part of its ongoing efforts to ensure that this debt forecasting model is in line with international best practice, the National Treasury intends to further develop its debt modelling and forecasting capabilities. This will allow the National Treasury to more effectively determine an optimal debt portfolio which will allow for a comprehensive risk assessment of the government's fiscal framework and funding strategy under various scenarios.

The scope of work should include the following:

- 2.1 Conducting a needs analysis to determine the type of debt modelling and forecasting capabilities that will be most suitable for the purposes of the National Treasury. The needs analysis should include among others:
 - a. A desktop benchmarking exercise that reviews the debt modelling and forecasting capabilities of comparative treasuries in other jurisdictions to evaluate the key features of their approaches that may be relevant to the South African Treasury.
 - b. Assessing the availability of reliable data from internal and external systems and processes to ensure that National Treasury can predict its debt sustainability at any horizon (short and long-term) in real-time; and
 - c. Evaluating the National Treasury's in-house developed debt forecasting model against other tools that have been implemented elsewhere.
- 2.2 Presenting available model options (in-line with international best practice) that will suit the purposes of the National Treasury. The model should contribute towards an assessment of a sustainable debt level for South Africa, include the ability to forecast a sustainable debt path that incorporates the various feedback effects associated with the implementation of fiscal scenarios.

2.3 Developing, testing, documenting and implement model and forecasting solutions.

2.4 Capacity building of relevant National Treasury officials to enable them to independently use the model and to put in place longer-term mechanisms to ensure that capacity is maintained.

3. QUALIFICATIONS, SKILLS AND EXPERIENCE

The service provider that will be chosen to perform the work outlined must satisfy the following requirements:
