2. INTRODUCTION

National Treasury wishes to engage a service provider(s) with the capabilities of Data Mining, Cleansing, Categorization, Integration, Visualization and Reporting

3. BACKGROUND

The National Treasury is responsible for managing South Africa's national government finances. Supporting efficient and sustainable public financial management is fundamental to the promotion of economic development, good governance, social progress and a rising standard of living for all South Africans. The Constitution of the Republic (Chapter 13) mandates the National Treasury to ensure transparency, accountability and sound financial controls in the management of public finances.

The National Treasury's legislative mandate is also described in the Public Finance Management Act (Chapter 2). The National Treasury is mandated to promote government's fiscal policy framework; to coordinate macroeconomic policy and intergovernmental financial relations; to manage the budget preparation process; to facilitate the Division of Revenue Act, which provides for an equitable distribution of nationally raised revenue between national, provincial and local government; and to monitor the implementation of provincial budgets.

Although the current legislation prescribe what data needs to be provided to who and when, getting organs of state to comply remains a challenge. Some of the contributing factors for non-compliance is the lack of data standards, duplication of data and systems, shortage of skilled SCM practitioners, as well as interpretation of legislation.

More than 28 procurement systems are used across government, each aiming at enabling the procurement processes legislated by the relevant national or provincial treasuries. Currently no procurement data, technology or application standards exist making it almost impossible to centralise, integrate and/or automate management reporting.

The most common solution to the problem would be the establishment of a common reference data repository but that would not address the interim problem that is to “accurately identify and link fragmented data records across various data sources”. Reaching the state of true data integrity with a “Common Reference Data Repository” is definitely a desirable object, but might be the proverbial “pot of gold at the end of the rainbow”. An approach that helps achieve quick tactical wins without losing focus of the strategic view will prove to be the most beneficial.

This engagement is therefore an attempt to establish a centralised view on procurement spend data through the mining of unstructured data from various source systems, enriching the data to make the original source data meaningful for analysis and finally the visualization of the structured data in a dashboard format.

4. SCOPE OF WORK

The scope of work includes two sections:

1. A technology or tool will be required to cover all aspects of the scope (Data Mining, Data Cleansing, Data Categorization (commodity classification), Data Integration and Visualization capabilities) in order to eliminate the current fragmented state of the procurement data between the different data sources within all three spheres of Government.
2. Two fulltime, onsite resources to assist with the setting up of the data repository/warehouse and the establishment of the OCPO business intelligence/information capability. The concept of a data repository/warehouse in this context refers to the process of extracting data from source systems, cleaning, transforming and delivering the data to the data repository/warehouse. Business intelligence/information refers to the processes of Data Mining, Data Cleansing, Data Categorization (commodity classification), Data Integration, Visualization and providing access to information for government users to make informed operational and policy decisions.

4.1 DATA MINING

Data Mining is defined as the procedure of extracting information from huge sets of data. Data discovery or mining must be performed for the purposes of Strategy Development, Statistical Analysis, Data Management and models.

4.2 DATA CLEANSING

In order to create a platform for better evaluation of information, different sets of collected data require cleansing in order to deal with detecting and removing errors and inconsistencies from data in order to improve the quality of data. Capability of collecting data from multiple operational sources as well as performing the data extraction, transformation, loading and data warehousing is mandatory.

4.3 DATA CLASSIFICATION/CATEGORISATION

A uniform commodity classification standard namely the UNSPSC, needs to be applied on all collected data from the various source systems such as BAS, LOGIS, CSD, etc.

4.4 DATA INTEGRATION

The service provider's offering needs to possess the capability of integrating data from multiple source systems in the form of a data grid that will serve as an extraction filter from which supply chain and procurement data can be extracted. We anticipate at least 15 sources systems to form part of the first wave of implementations.

4.5 DATA VISUALISATION

A visualization platform needs to be available with multi user functionality at a central as well as a decentralized level and with capabilities to produce graphs, analytics etc. in a dashboard format.

The primary functions of dimensions are to provide filtering, grouping and labelling on your data. Dimension tables contain textual descriptions about the subjects of the business.
 - c. Setting up of fact tables - Data in fact tables are called measures (or dependent attributes). Fact tables provide statistics for spend broken down by supplier, commodity, product/item, period and store dimensions. Fact tables usually contain historical transactional entries of live systems and is mainly made up of columns which reference to various dimension and numeric measure values on which aggregation will be performed. Different types of fact tables are Transactional, Cumulative, Snapshot, etc.
 - d. Design a relational database after the identification of dimensions and measures by selecting and using an appropriate schema to relate these dimensions and fact tables e.g. Star Flake Schema, Distributed Star Schema, etc.
 - e. Design SQL Server Integration Services (SSIS) ETL package to populate dimension and fact table of data repository/warehouse with appropriate values. The package must enable daily, monthly or yearly scheduling to allow for daily processing and populating of previous day data in dimension and fact tables for the importing of data to perform analysis and reporting.

CERTIFICATE OF INDEPENDENT BID DETERMINATION

- 1 This Standard Bidding Document (SBD) must form part of all bids¹ invited.
- 2 Section 4 (1) (b) (iii) of the Competition Act No. 89 of 1998, as amended, prohibits an agreement between, or concerted practice by, firms, or a decision by an association of firms, if it is between parties in a horizontal relationship and if it involves collusive bidding (or bid rigging).² Collusive bidding is a pe se prohibition meaning that it cannot be justified under any grounds.
- 3 Treasury Regulation 16A9 prescribes that accounting officers and accounting authorities must take all reasonable steps to prevent abuse of the supply chain management system and authorizes accounting officers and accounting authorities to:
 - a. disregard the bid of any bidder if that bidder, or any of its directors have abused the institution's supply chain management system and or committed fraud or any other improper conduct in relation to such system.
 - b. cancel a contract awarded to a supplier of goods and services if the supplier committed any corrupt or fraudulent act during the bidding process or the execution of that contract.
- 4 This SBD serves as a certificate of declaration that would be used by institutions to ensure that, when bids are considered, reasonable steps are taken to prevent any form of bid-rigging.
- 5 In order to give effect to the above, the attached Certificate of Bid Determination (SBD 9) must be completed and submitted with the bid:

² Bid rigging (or collusive bidding) occurs when businesses, that would otherwise be expected to compete, secretly conspire to raise prices or lower the quality of goods and / or services for purchasers who wish to acquire goods and / or services through a bidding process. Bid rigging is, therefore, an agreement between competitors not to compete.
