NT013-2023: APPOINTMENT OF A HIGHER LEARNING INSTITUTION TO PROVIDE LEADERSHIP AND MANAGEMENT DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMMES TO THE NATIONAL TREASURY FOR A PERIOD OF 3 YEARS

---

1. BACKGROUND

The National Treasury views the development of its employees as critically important to enhancing the department's capacity and strengthening service delivery. As such, the National Treasury is embarking on the delivery of leadership and management development programmes to accelerate the development of employees and to ensure that the department has a skilled cohort of managers.

To achieve this, the National Treasury intends to introduce a structured, targeted management and leadership training through a series of short courses that can be attended by assistant directors (first line managers), deputy directors (middle managers), directors and beyond (senior managers).

As a result, the National Treasury wishes to procure the services of a higher learning institution, with experience in the delivery of leadership and management development short courses to public sector clients to provide a suite of structured leadership and management development short courses for the benefit of National Treasury employees.

2. PROJECT BRIEF

The key objective of the project is to provide the National Treasury with a suite of leadership and management development short courses which will assist employees to perform optimally in their respective managerial duties as well as to grow professionally.

The short courses referred hereto may not necessarily be credit bearing and should not include contact time of more than 4 weeks. The contact time referred to herein does not necessarily describe the total duration of the short course, but the cumulative number of days spent in class. It is envisaged that this contact time may be broken down into study blocks. However, the short courses must be able to address specific leadership and management development training outcomes outlined here. It would be ideal if the programmes build into each other in a manner that facilitates for career progression.

National Treasury prefers that these leadership and management development programmes be delivered through face-to-face contact sessions.

3. SCOPE OF WORK

The venue must be equipped with the relevant training media (e.g., projectors etc.).

- Deliver various short courses, not exceeding one month of contact time per course, to National Treasury employees and, where required and appropriate, customise the learning to reflect the National Treasury context.
- Provide relevant learning material (learner guides) to be utilised for training purposes.
- As part of the training, conduct leadership style assessments with employees and ensure these assessments are shared with participants in a facilitated manner.
- Where required, offer leadership programmes with a special focus on women in leadership, negotiation skills and other areas the National Treasury may deem relevant.
- Deliver the short course offerings in such a way that is interactive and ensures higher retention of learning.
- Guide the attendees in delivering projects related to the leadership and management development content to maximise the return on training investment.
- Issue certificates of competence to course attendees upon successful completion of each course, and
- Provide National Treasury with training reports which details, inter alia, training attendance statistics, progress by learners, and recommendations on how to assist learners with special learning needs.
